Are there Chinese flow batteries for communication base stations in Zimbabwe

Overview

Chinese companies have flocked to Zimbabwe's untapped reserves of high-grade lithium to shore up the country's supplies, benefiting from the Southern African nation's cheap labour and deregulated mining sector. Why is China launching a lithium processing plant in Zimbabwe?

(AP Photo/Tsvangirayi Mukwazhi) HARARE, Zimbabwe (AP) — A Chinese mining company formally opened a $300 million lithium processing plant Wednesday in Zimbabwe, which has one of the world's largest reserves of the metal as demand surges globally because of its use in electric car batteries.

Are Chinese companies paying a high price to access Zimbabwe's lithium reserves?

For decades, the vast, hard-rock lithium deposits buried under his home were of little interest to foreign investors. Now, Chinese companies are paying a high price to access Zimbabwe's reserves - the largest in Africa and among the largest in the world.

Where is Zimbabwe's prospect lithium processing plant?
